

WORKER-DRIVEN SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY is a new model for protecting human rights in global supply chains. It builds upon corporate social responsibility models, that are top down and established by lead firms in supply chains, to full incorporate workers in designing, monitoring and enforcing workers' human and labour rights.